Surface improvements coming to East Lot at ORF

Norfolk, VA — (August 29, 2024) - Norfolk International Airport will close a portion of its East Lot to new entrants beginning Tuesday, Sept. 3. With Labor Day marking the unofficial conclusion of ORF's busiest summer travel season ever, up to 470 of the East Lot's approximately 925 uncovered spaces will temporarily close so workers can mill existing surfaces, place a new asphalt overlay and later restripe the area. Nearly 300 spaces should reopen in time for ORF's next heavy travel period around Thanksgiving.

Vehicles parked in the affected areas prior to the closure can remain in place until their owners return from their trips. The East Lot's main entrance closest to the Departures Terminal will remain open to parking customers, though online reservations for the East Lot only are unavailable through ORF's Parking Perks program. Drivers are always encouraged to reserve spaces and park in one of ORF's four convenient parking garages that offer direct covered access to the airport's terminals.

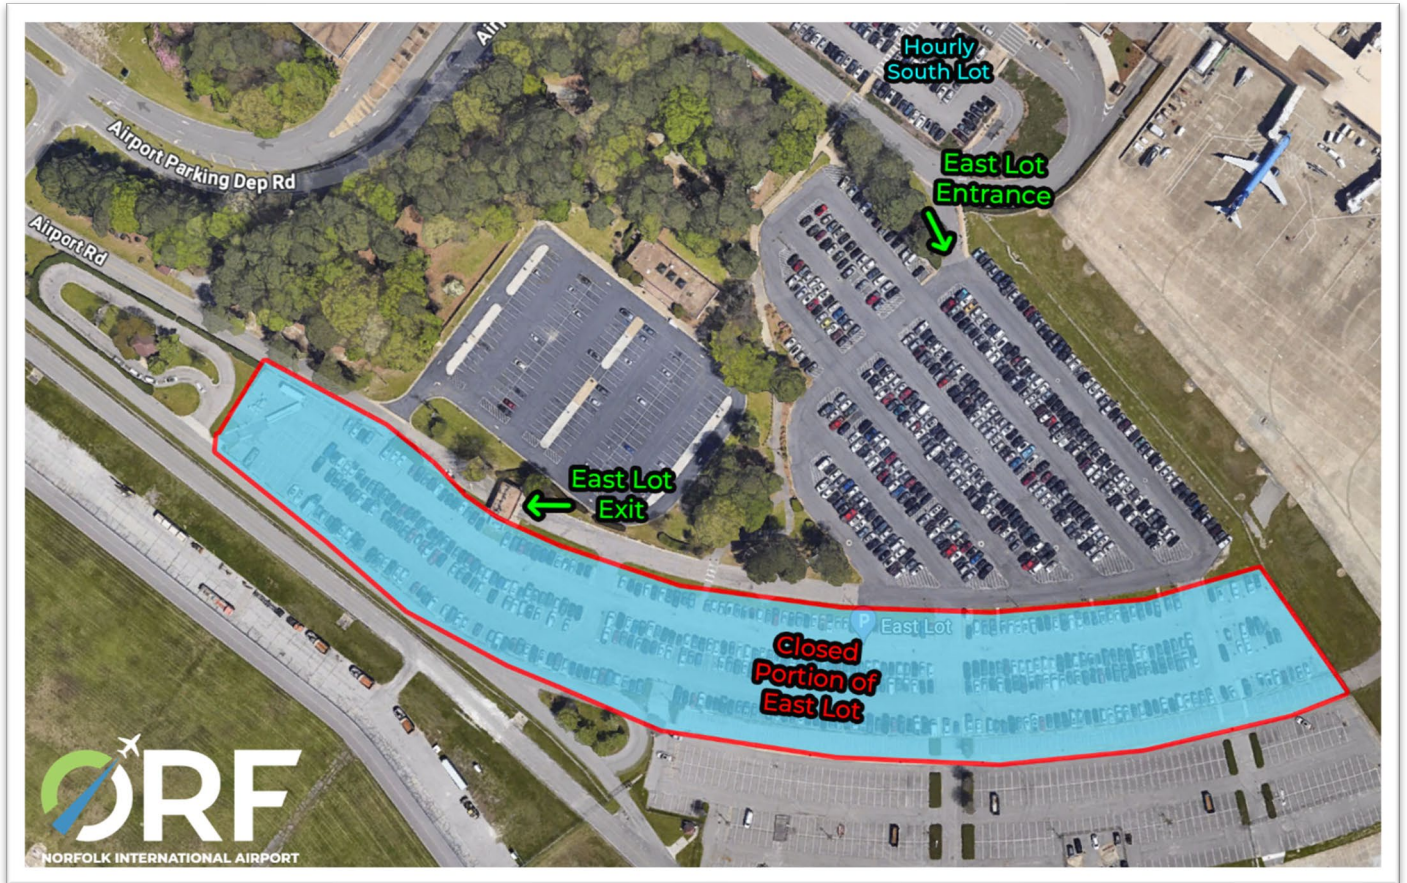

Separately, ORF will also open a new Park & Wait surface lot adjacent to its Arrivals Terminal curb later this fall, making pickups easier than ever. These improvements will support the airport's nearly $1 billion capital improvement program scheduled over the next few years.
